MAPLE CREEK, SASKATCHEWAN

Following the establishment of the Mounted Police at Fort Walsh in 1874, a few settlers ventured into the Cyprus Hills area.

In 1882 the CPR was being pushed across the prairies and it was decided to move the headquarters of the Mounted Police from Fort Walsh to Regina, the new capital of the North West Territories. In 1883 the transfer was effected. By this time the construction of the railway had passed Maple Creek and the townsite was available to those looking for business opportunities.

In the spring of 1883, John and Chester Dixon arrived to enter the store business. One, that years later, was to rank among the best in Western Canada.

Maple Creek's first paper, a typewritten sheet (sometimes two), was published by Jean Claustre's daughter, Katie during the years 1897-1899. The first weekly paper 'The Maple Creek Signal' was started 14 Mar 1902 by Ephriam Downing. It ran until 1909. The second newspaper 'The Ranching News' started 20 Aug 1903 by Thomas James Ashley-Banner. It was purchased by W.J. Redmond in 1909 and the name changed to the Maple Creek News.

Maple Creek was incorporated in 1903. The first mayor was John Dixon.

The cemetery is located on the main road into Maple Creek on the east side. There are 3629 burials listed in the recording.

The first burial was Andrew Elliott who died on 6 November 1883 and was buried on his homestead north of Maple Creek, the burial register reads 1889. In 1890 Jules Quesnell and Louis Haggis removed some of their kin from Mose Elliot's place and reinterred them in Maple Creek. The earliest headstone reads Mabel Small 18 May 1884 and Lilly Small 07 June 1886. Neither name appears on the register.

Some of the information for the recording was taken from early Birth, Death and Marriage records of the Maple Creek area. A copy of which is held at the Medicine Hat Museum. There are also some discrepancies in birth dates and this has been noted. These were taken from those records and cannot be taken verbatim. All the children entered at the end of the recording were also taken from these records. There are about forty names on markers which are not recorded in the records of the Funeral Home in Maple Creek which have records starting approximately 1945 and are very helpful. In 1983 the town attempted to mark each grave with a wooded plaque in preparation for their Homecoming, this is indicated by 'marker only' in this publication. The last burial recorded is that of Hannah Hoffman who died 24 June 1994.
